

Luxury cars are a good

Contributed by Administrator
Saturday, 05 September 2009
Last Updated Wednesday, 16 September 2009

Volunteers on the car for the next one million U.S. dollars was missing. If you have a million dollars, you can make yourself one of the 75 Mercedes-Benz SLR "Stirling Moss". A new series of SLR cameras, which will be available for sale in June, will not, however, rather to the general public. Why? "Because the right to use the option of pre-emption are the owners of the previous series , which cost "only" 300 thousand. dollars per piece.

Car of the higher-end brands such as Bentley, Maserati, Lamborghini, Maybach and Rolls-Royce, reported last year sales growth of between 8 percent. for up to 50 percent. if you take into account only the fast-growing markets in Eastern Europe. Jaguar, which is now owned by India's Tata, last year sold 65 thousand. cars in a price range from 30 to 60 thousand. dollars. To 8 percent. more than in 2007. - Of course we all feel the crisis. But we just do not have to sell a million cars to record a profit - explains CJ O'Donnell, head of marketing for Jaguar. In comparison to other luxury car brands Jaguar and so it is a mass product. - We sold 2430 lamborghini in 2008, an increase of 6 percent. - Stefan Winkelmann says the Lamborghini Gallardo at the premiere LP 560, which will be starting to have 200 thousand. dollars. Even in 2007, most lamborghini sold in the U.S. (950), this year - bought most of the Europeans, where sales reached 1000 units (compared with 750 overseas.) Who rides lamborghini in the U.S.? Hollywoodcy actors, a few rappers and the highest paid lawyers. Mostly from New York, California and Florida. - The rest we sell in Italy, Germany, Great Britain and Switzerland. In Russia, although the quality of roads and harsh climate are unlikely to allow him to ride, or sell a dozen units a year - says Winkelmann.